Subject: RE: University without Walls

Thank you for your interest in University Without Walls. This program has proved to be a boon for the homebound. Over 1,000 students participate annually in our teleconference program; they can select from over 200 courses and support groups. Students enroll from across the USA. However, we currently ask students who are outside New York State to pick up the long distance phone charges.

University Without Walls is described on our website www.dorotusa.org/; you will find it under our programs for seniors. Or we can send you a program catalog.

For information about participation in our program, contact Bonnie Jacobs, Director of Educational Services at DOROT. I am forwarding your email to her.

We also encourage communities across the country to replicate our model program. DOROT can provide technical assistance and a replication kit. There is a fee for this service. For information about replication services, you can contact me.
